OSHA Safety Article.....

Demolition: Construction in Reverse, with Additional Hazards.

OSHA Compliance Safety and Health Officers often face a somber task as they identify and document the violation of safety and health standards which lead up to the latest worker tragedy. Demolition worker impaled on rebar. Worker electrocuted during demolition work. Two demolition workers die of burns after flash fire at warehouse. Employee in aerial lift killed when roof collapses. However, the hazards of demolition work can be controlled and eliminated with the proper planning, the right personal protective equipment, necessary training, and compliance with OSHA standards. This Safety & Health Topics page is dedicated to the demolition workers who died on the job.

Demolition is the dismantling, razing, destroying or wrecking of any building or structure or any part thereof. Demolition work involves many of the hazards associated with construction. However, demolition involves additional hazards due to unknown factors which makes demolition work particularly dangerous. These may include:

- Changes from the structure's design introduced during construction;
- Approved or unapproved modifications that altered the original design;
- Materials hidden within structural members, such as lead, asbestos, silica, and other chemicals or heavy metals requiring special material handling;
- Unknown strengths or weaknesses of construction materials, such as post-tensioned concrete;
- Hazards created by the demolition methods used.

To combat these, everyone at a demolition worksite must be fully aware of the hazards they may encounter and the safety precautions they must take to protect themselves and their employees.

Demolition hazards are addressed in specific standards for the construction industry.

Hazards

PLAN ahead to get the job done safely

Proper planning is essential to ensure a demolition operation is conducted with no accidents or injuries. This includes, but is not limited to:

- An engineering survey completed by a competent person before any demolition work takes place. This should include the condition of the structure and the possibility of an unplanned collapse.
- Locating, securing, and/or relocating any nearby utilities.
- Fire prevention and evacuation plan.
- First Aid and Emergency Medical Services.
- An assessment of health hazards completed before any demolition work takes place.

OSHA Safety Article.....

PROVIDE the right protection and equipment

The employer must determine what Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) will be required. In demolition operations, PPE may include:

- Eye, face, head, hand, foot protection
- Respiratory protection
- Hearing protection
- Personal Fall Arrest Systems (PFAS)
- Other protective clothing (for example, cutting or welding operations)
- It is not enough to provide PPE. Employees must be trained on the selection, use, fitting, inspection, maintenance, and storage of PPE.

TRAIN all employees about hazards and how to use the equipment safely

Under the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSH Act), Public Law 91-596, employers have a responsibility to provide a safe workplace for employees. Employers must instruct employees how to recognize and avoid or remove hazards that may cause an injury or illness based on their assigned duties. Certain OSHA construction standards require that employees receive training in specific topics. Employers must provide this safety training in a language and vocabulary their workers can understand.

Employer Responsibilities

Under the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSH Act), Public Law 91-596, each employer is responsible for the safety and health of its workers and for providing a safe and healthful workplace for its workers.

OSHA's role is to assure the safety and health of America's workers. The OSHA at a Glance (PDF*) publication provides information on the strategies and programs OSHA uses to promote worker safety and health. For additional information on Workers' Rights, Employer Responsibilities, and other services OSHA offers, visit OSHA's Help for Employers, Workers Page and Publications.

This information was taken from the OSHA website at www.osha.gov. We encourage you to share this valuable information with your employees.

EVENTS & WORKSHOPS

LOUISIANA SMALL BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT CENTERS: EVENTS/WORKSHOPS:

Small Business Expo with Congressman Cedric Richmond

Thursday, September 03, 2015 11:00 AM to 4:00 PM

Entrepreneurs and small firms create the jobs and develop the ideas that our economy needs to regain its footing. However, this innovation is not easy. The business world is complex and constantly presents new challenges. To facilitate the growth and development of local small businesses, Rep. Cedric Richmond is hosting a Small Business Expo in conjunction with Delgado Community College on September 3, 2015. Purchasing departments of major government agencies and top companies from the area will join with small business assistance programs for an exhibition. This is your chance to meet with them one-on-one to establish valuable contacts and discover new opportunities for your business. The event is free and space is limited. If you have any questions about the event, please contact Wayne Wright or Peter Hunter at wayne.wright@mail.house.gov and peter.hunter@mail.house.gov, respectively.

What can SJB Group do for You?

SJB Group, LLC can provide free assistance to certified LADOT DBE firms in the following areas:

SJB Group can assist you by: preparing company business cards, profile sheets, and providing information on recommended target areas for your marketing efforts.

By acting as a liaison between the DBE Contractor and Prime Contractor for project information, and in problems occurring on the jobsite.

By informing of upcoming LADOT lettings, and project information for other agencies throughout the state. SJB can assist you in locating bid tabulation information as well.

By providing assistance and guidance on material takeoffs, bid preparation and estimating, project scheduling, and planning for projects that DBE firms are bidding or plan to bid in the near future.

By helping with office computer operations to include trouble-shooting problems, Internet access and software installation, and basic to technical computer training.

By assisting in financial areas such as loan and bond package preparations, company financial statements, business plan preparation, and SBA 8(a) and Hub-Zone certification packages.
